PG Protocol Writing Program

Case Study 1

A postgraduate made a case report and sent it to a leading journal. He was careful in disguising identifying features including in the photographs to ensure anonymity and concentrated on scrupulous accuracy as to what was medically relevant. Two months after the article was published the PG received a lawyer notice for damages.

Case Study 2

An international organization proposed a collaborative trial for a new drug for AIDS which would be later marketed in the US and Europe. A RCT was planned comparing the drug with a placebo. Those receiving the drug would NOT have to pay anything during the trial period.

Case Study 3

While finalizing the protocol for a postgraduate dissertation the faculty guide (A) discussed with another faculty (B) who stated that it was a "good idea". When the proposal was finalized (B) stated that since he was party to the idea, and since his data would be used he should be the author in all papers.

Case Study 4

My review of literature for my dissertation/publication is showing up as plagiarised? I have reproduced what the authors have said. Some portions of methodology I have repeated from an earlier paper. Why is that?

Case Study 5

I found at the end of my study that data was missing for some of the parameters. Also some of the subjects were lost to follow up. Can I just delete the records or fill in with dummy values?
